MEMORANDUM FOR: Executive Director - Comptroller

SUBJECT : Experimental Program in Clerical Recruitment and Training

1. This memorandum is for information only.

2. Last Summer we undertook a special effort to recruit and train underprivileged, underqualified clerical applicants from the local area. A report on the program from the Deputy Director of Personnel for Recruitment and Placement to the Director of Personnel is attached.

3. This program represents Agency participation in the Administration's program to afford employment to those who are not ordinarily qualified for Federal service and it has been of significant benefit to the individuals who were employed. I have sent letters of appreciation to the Directors of Personnel and Training, and to Mrs. [redacted]

[redacted] of the Clerical Training Faculty/OTR who were most directly involved and are largely responsible for the success of this program.

4. Based on experience we have gained to date, another similar program is being planned for this Fall, after the peak summer training period of the Clerical Training Faculty is complete.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Personnel

SUBJECT : Experimental Program in Clerical Recruitment and Training--Summary of Results

1. During April - June 1969 a special recruitment effort was made in the Northern Virginia - D. C. area to attract underprivileged, underqualified clerical applicants whose skills might be brought to useful levels through training. 91 applicants were interviewed, 45 were put in clearance, and 17 entered on duty 30 June 1969 as GS-02 trainees (all female, 16 Negro, 1 white).

2. In addition to general orientation, training was given in English usage, Typing, Filing and Office Practices. Trainees progressed at their own rate of speed and individual training time varied greatly, from a minimum of 8 weeks to a maximum of 19.

3. Of the 17 who entered training eight qualified as typists and nine did not. Two were lost through Panel disqualification and one because of maternity, leaving 14 who completed training, were assigned, and are still on duty. Of the 14, seven are typists and seven are general clerks. Six are still at GS-02, seven are at GS-03, and one is a GS-04. As it turned out, most of them came from the Alexandria area and all asked to be assigned only in the Rosslyn area for reasons of transportation. [redacted] which had a clerical shortage at the time, took thirteen and one is in the Office of Finance. We propose to reassign a few of those in [redacted] who are not quite up to the volume production requirements placed on their typists.

4. Mrs [redacted] and other members of the Clerical Training Faculty, OTR, did a magnificent job with this group. In addition to an investment of 587 instructor hours spent in teaching, they spent unmeasured hours in counseling, listening to personal problems, trying to motivate individuals and instill in them a will to succeed. SUBJECT : Experimental Program in Clerical Recruitment and Training

1. The Director of Personnel has informed me of the outstanding work done by the Clerical Training Faculty/OTR during the recent experimental program to attract underprivileged, underqualified clerical applicants. I have forwarded to the Executive Director-Comptroller a copy of the attached memorandum which summarizes the results of this program and recognizes the substantial role played by OTR.

2. I know that a great deal of hard work went into this program and that its success is largely attributable to the special efforts made by the individual employees who were responsible for training and preparing this group to assume full job responsibility.

3. Please express my thanks to Mrs. [redacted] and the other members of your Staff who participated in this program. Copies of this memorandum have been forwarded to the Office of Personnel for inclusion in the Official Personnel File of each of the above ladies.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Personnel

SUBJECT : Continuation of the Experimental Program in Clerical Recruitment and Training

REFERENCE : Memo dtd 8 Apr 69 to D/Pers fr DD/Pers/R&P,
"An Experimental Program in Clerical
Recruitment and Training"

1. The referent program was implemented last summer with your approval. Our evaluation of the results of that program indicates that the considerable effort involved was well justified. Eight of the 17 participants qualified as typists and were assigned as such while nine were assigned to other clerical duties. Fourteen of the 17 participants are still on duty. Overall, the program made a significant contribution toward raising the employability of these underprivileged participants.

2. We plan to operate a similar but slightly modified program this year.

(a) Our experience suggests that a group of 10 or 12 participants would be better for training and management purposes.

(b) We plan to recruit again in nearby Northern Virginia and in D. C.

(c) We will apply essentially the same selection criteria we used last year.

(d) The program of instruction will have the same objectives and will be modified as appropriate in the light of our experience last year.

(e) We propose to conduct the training in the autumn rather than during the peakload summer months when the training staff is fully occupied.

I think we should anticipate that his Clerical Training Faculty may need some additional assistance, in the form of a contract instructor, during the period of training. Mr. [] will discuss the program with the Director of Training next week and will ask his concurrence. Unless you or Mr. Cunningham see some objection, we will develop the program along the lines indicated.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Personnel

4 FEB 1970

SUBJECT : Personnel Recruitment and Utilization Under Reduced Ceilings

REFERENCES :

FILE

Personnel 15

1. Increasingly stringent ceiling controls require close husbanding of the Agency's personnel assets.

2. Agency regulations provide in the cited references that the Director of Personnel shall, in meeting the requirements of the various components, first consider employees for internal transfer and only secondly turn to external recruitment. I recognize why this responsibility has not been vigorously pursued in the past but now consider it imperative that every effort be made to fill vacancies by internal transfer. I have reviewed with the Deputy Directors the constraints we now face, and they are in complete agreement that we must make full use of our current assets before undertaking external recruitment. They believe it is critically important also that all employees understand that this is an Agency-wide problem and they will personally insure that no onus falls on any employee who believes his transfer within the Agency would be to the Agency's and his best interests. You shall therefore immediately undertake to screen all requirements of each Agency component against the qualifications of employees assigned to all other components. Currently, you should concentrate on movement out of those components suffering serious strength overages. You should, however, consider any transfer it appears would result in a net gain in Agency capability. While the second reference provides for consultation with the individual and Heads of the Career Services concerned, this does not preclude your taking the initiative for such changes of assignment and Career Service.

3. To assure maximum effectiveness of this program, Personnel Officers of all Agency components should be provided appropriate lists of vacancies for which internal candidates would be desirable. Such lists will serve two purposes. They will aid Personnel Officers, particularly in components with overages, to identify individuals in their organizations who may be qualified for these vacant positions. Secondly, they will provide for self-identification by individual employees who desire consideration for reassignment. To give immediate impetus to this program and to be sure all employees are advised, I suggest issuance of an Agency notice. That notice should include the fact that it is the opinion of the Deputies that the program will be supported to the extent of sponsoring additional training where refreshing or updating of a basically qualified individual is necessary.
